WHO ARE WE TO GOD?

In the liturgical calendar November 1 is celebrated as All Saints Day and November 2 as All Souls Day. We will have two masses on this Day: 9.15 am and 7 pm. May we come to gather and celebrate the lives of our loved ones. A long-standing tradition in the Church is to use the month of November to remember our loved ones who have gone before us. Memories of our loved ones who lived among us and somehow touched our lives are still powerful. We enjoy a spiritual communion with them though they are not physically with us. Throughout the month of November, the Masses will be offered for our loved ones and the Mass intention envelopes are available in the church and the parish office. The Book of Life is kept at the entrance of the church so that you may write the names of your loved ones for us to remember in every mass. Here below is the reflection of Alex Gruber on the readings for October 30, 2022.

Since July of this year, NASA has been releasing images from the James Webb Space Telescope, to the awe and delight of people across the globe, myself included. The first published is a deep-field image: in an area of sky that appears around as large as a grain of sand held at arm's length from our eyes on earth, the telescope captured thousands of galaxies, some of them up to 13 billion years old! Our planet is but a speck (if even that) in the vastness of the cosmos, a fact that makes our proclamation of the words in Wisdom even more staggering: "Before the LORD the whole universe is as a grain from a balance or a drop of morning dew come down upon the earth."

In the second chapter of Laudato Si, this is said of the Mystery of the Universe: "... the world came about as the result of a decision, not from chaos or chance, and this exalts it all the more. The creating word expresses a free choice. The universe did not emerge as the result of arbitrary omnipotence, a show of force or a desire for self-assertion. Creation is the order of love. God's love is the fundamental moving force in all created things..."

Who are we, then, to this God, and who are we in a world, let alone a universe, that often seems cold, distant, and even without meaning? As it turns out, we are the world to God, God's beloved. The Holy Spirit breathes through all of creation, from the Crab Nebula to crabs, suns to sunflowers, constellations of stars to communities of people. God recognizes God's self in all the universe and says that it is good. Gifting and recognizing God's own image and likeness in each of us human beings, God says that we are very good and demonstrates this truth by becoming one of us.

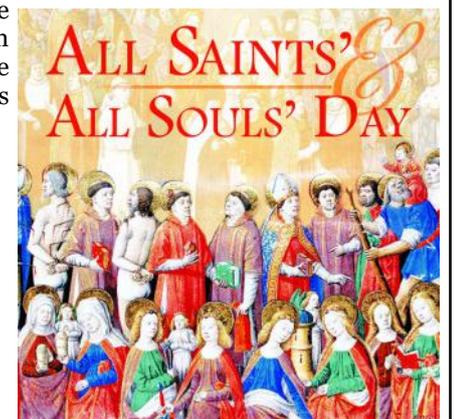

Even the lowly, the people we sell short as sinners like Zacchaeus, are held in high esteem by God the lover of all souls. So often, we get caught up in ideas of worthiness, debating who has earned a portion of God's love as though it is as scarce and non-renewable a resource as oil. Jesus calls us down to earth and to a personal encounter with him, inviting us to accept his Father's love and his own Spirit that we may make his way our way.

When we receive Jesus and all he offers with joy, we can grow toward the heavens. Sure of our roots deep in solid ground, we will not be shaken by calls to collect as much as we can, even to the point of extortion, and hoard it for ourselves. Rather, we will see clearly the abundance of God's love and give it and God's other gifts generously, especially to the people we have cast down and out.

What would our world look like if we recognized and treated all that we have on earth as gifts? What would our world look like if we acknowledged the harm we have caused to each other and our earth and gave the "reasonable" restitution for that harm four times over? It may look as foolish as a short man scrambling up a tree. From what we read in the Gospel, it might also look like salvation, the reign of God, coming into our lives. What a gift to us on this little drop in the universe. Let us pray we accept it with open arms and joyful hearts.

God's blessings

Fr. Vince

1 December 7-8pm: Told from the viewpoint of Psyche's sister, Orual, Till We Have Faces by CS Lewis is a brilliant examination of envy, betrayal, loss, blame, grief, guilt, and conversion. In this his final, and most mature and masterful novel, Lewis reminds us of our own infallibility and the role of a higher power in our lives.

SOCIAL JUSTICE @ ST MAD'S: 8th November our Laudato Si' team will host a screening of The Letter The letter \(theletterfilm.org\) 7pm in the St Madeleine's Centre.

The Diocese of Parramatta, together with the PAYCE Foundation, Paynter Dixon and St. Merkorious Charity, invites you to the Parramatta Street Feast 2022 at Prince Alfred Square in Parramatta on Saturday 12 November, 12pm-2pm. The Street Feast is a response to Pope Francis' call to build a more inclusive, welcoming and generous society. People on the margins of society as well as parishioners, students, volunteers and agency staff are invited to share a meal, entertainment and company in a spirit of friendship and solidarity. The first Parramatta Street Feast was celebrated in 2019. After two years of hiatus due to the Covid-19 pandemic, we are finally organising a second event of this kind.

During the month of November, we will offer our prayers and Masses for the eternal repose of the souls of our beloved departed.

Pen the names in the Book of Life at the entrance to the Church.

Envelopes for Mass intentions are available in the foyer of the Church.

The bulletin will have a prayer each week for our loved ones.

St Martin de Porres

Feast Day:
3 November

Martin was reared in poverty, locked into a low level of Lima's society. When he was 12, his mother apprenticed him to a barber-surgeon. Martin learned how to cut hair and also how to draw blood—a standard medical treatment then—care for wounds, and prepare and administer medicines. After a few years in this medical apostolate, Martin applied to the Dominicans to be a "lay helper," not feeling himself worthy to be a religious brother. After nine years, the example of his prayer and penance, charity and humility, led the community to request him to make full religious profession. Many of his nights were spent in prayer and penitential practices; his days were filled with nursing the sick and caring for the poor. It was particularly impressive that he treated all people regardless of their color, race, or status. He was instrumental in founding an orphanage, took care of slaves brought from Africa, and managed the daily alms of the priory with practicality, as well as generosity. He became the procurator for both priory and city, whether it was a matter of "blankets, shirts, candles, candy, miracles or prayers!" Side by side with his daily work in the kitchen, laundry, and infirmary, Martin's life reflected God's extraordinary gifts: ecstasies that lifted him into the air, light filling the room where he prayed, bi-location, miraculous knowledge, instantaneous cures, and a remarkable rapport with animals. Many of his fellow religious took Martin as their spiritual director, but he continued to call himself a "poor slave." He was a good friend of another Dominican saint of Peru, Rose of Lima.
