NON-VIOLENCE IS THE ARTICLE OF FAITH- Mahatma Gandhi

A few years ago, a newspaper columnist reported on an unusual program. It dealt with removing unwanted tattoos -especially gang -related tattoos -from the bodies of young people. A surprising thing happened after the column appeared. Over a thousand letters flooded in from young people all over the country, asking more about the programme. Because of this remarkable response, the Los Angeles School District and a local cable television company produced a film called Un-tattoo You. It told of the dangers of amateur tattooing and showed how difficult it was to remove small tattoos from arms and faces and larger tattoos from chests and backs. The stars of the film were young people themselves. They talked frankly about why they were tattooed in the first place and why they now wanted the tattoos removed. The film eventually won a national award and was distributed throughout the country. The story behind the film "Un-tattoo You" illustrates an important point. All of us have done things in our past that we now regret and would like to erase. This is not just true of young people. It is even more true of older people. The tragic thing about all of this is that so many people regret what they did but don't know what to do about it now. So, they live with the mistake. They go through the guilt trip and lose peace of mind and health. (Mark Link in 'Sunday Homilies') However, just as young people rejoiced when they discovered a way to remove their unwanted tattoos, so we Catholics rejoice that Jesus gave us a way to liberate ourselves from this through the Sacrament of Reconciliation (Confession). May I there encourage you to receive this Sacrament of Reconciliation on 13th December 7 pm in our church as a way of heeding to the invitation of John the Baptist, "Prepare the way for the Lord". Sure, we can experience true freedom from the chains of sin and guilt. Below are the reflections of Dan Moriarty (Maryknoll) for the second Sunday of Advent. (Source duly and gratefully acknowledged)

This Sunday, John the Baptist challenges us to face the most difficult realities in our lives and in our world. Ours is a culture that too often encourages magical thinking: Protect corporations and billionaires, and wealth will trickle down to poor and working families. Fight wars to achieve peace. End crime and undocumented migration by hiding people away in prisons. End racism by not talking about racism. Simply think about what you want, and it will manifest itself. Again and again, we are told to hide, destroy, or ignore what is hard or painful, and trust that good things will be ours. Out of the desert and into this cacophony of snake oil sales pitches appears John with a different kind of prescription: go to the hard place. Do the work of healing and reconciliation.

John's call is echoed in the gospel call to nonviolence. When we commit to nonviolence, we recognize different forms of violence and our participation. We must repent of violence – whether direct, physical violence or systemic and structural violence, the violence of attack and exploitation or that of exclusion and indifference.

The very word nonviolence speaks to this discernment: it is not simply non-violence, or the absence of violence. Nonviolence requires that we recognize violence and its root causes in order to resist and transform it.

Let us consider our interior attitudes and interpersonal relationships, but also engage in social analysis: how do I participate in structures that perpetuate violence? Economic exploitation, racism and other forms of discrimination, the destruction of the environment and contribution to climate change are all forms of violence. When we vote for leaders who spend trillions of dollars on weapons while failing to fund human needs, and we pay taxes into that system, we are complicit in violence.

In committing to nonviolence, the Maryknoll Lay Missioners have identified three ways nonviolence is expressed vis-à-vis violence: prevention, intervention, and restoration/reconciliation. The second step is like the sacrament of reconciliation: intervention requires naming and repenting sinful behaviour. Restoration and reconciliation mean rebuilding the right relationships. And prevention means developing new behaviours that seek the common good. Nonviolence is the path to peace with justice: it produces "fruit in keeping with repentance." As we prepare the way for the Lord, let us identify and repent of the violence in our lives.

"When the divine enters into human affairs, it defies human logic, confounds human expectations, and usually goes unrecorded in important news outlets. This is what is known by scripture scholars as the "divine reversal." God is definitely human and acting in our world. And humans are reversing the age-old ways of selfishness, greed and violence, and instead acting in divine fashion. This is what the divine reversal means". - Father Frank Breen

Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary 8 December

A feast called the Conception of Mary arose in the Eastern Church in the seventh century. It came to the West in the eighth century. In the 11th century it received its present name, the Immaculate Conception. In the 18th century it became a feast of the universal Church. It is now recognized as a solemnity. In 1854, Pius IX solemnly proclaimed: "The most Blessed Virgin Mary, in the first instant of her conception, by a singular grace and privilege granted by almighty God, in view of the merits of Jesus Christ, the savior of the human race, was preserved free from all stain of original sin." It took a long time for this doctrine to develop. While many Fathers and Doctors of the Church considered Mary the greatest and holiest of the saints, they often had difficulty in seeing Mary as sinless—either at her conception or throughout her life. This is one of the Church teachings that arose more from the piety of the faithful than from the insights of brilliant theologians. Even such champions of Mary as Bernard of Clairvaux and Thomas Aquinas could not see theological justification for this teaching. Two Franciscans, William of Ware and Blessed John Duns Scotus, helped develop the theology. They pointed out that Mary's Immaculate Conception enhances Jesus' redemptive work. Other members of the human race are cleansed from original sin after birth. In Mary, Jesus' work was so powerful as to prevent original sin at the outset.

PRAYER FOR THE SYNOD

*We stand before You,
Holy Spirit,
as we gather together in Your name.*

*With You alone to guide us,
make Yourself at home in our hearts;*

*Teach us the way we must go
and how we are to pursue it.
We are God's beloved children:
may our journey together
be marked by humble listening,
courageous speech, and lively hope.*

*Let us find in You our unity
as we seek to do what is right.*

*All this we ask of You,
who are at work in every place and
time,*

in the communion of the Father and the Son, forever and ever.

AMEN

Vinnies Christmas Appeal

Dear Parishioners

This year we welcome your support in donating to the St Vincent de Paul Society Christmas Appeal.

You will assist in two ways.

A collection will take place at the end of each Mass
on 10th & 11th December.

At a local level, our members and volunteers will be able to offer assistance directly to families and individuals. At a broader level you will be contributing to the large and varied network of short and longer term support services for people in NSW
who require specialised care.

St Vincent de Paul told followers there are no people
so rich that they have nothing to receive, and none
so poor that they have nothing to give.

Your support for this appeal is greatly appreciated by ourselves and the recipients. The support addresses poverty and disadvantage in our communities. May we move towards a Christmas of being watchful in faith and hope filled for our community and the world.

THE COST-OF-LIVING CRISIS IS HURTING MANY FAMILIES.

Families like Kelly's are being pushed into poverty
and are at risk of homelessness.

Your support this Christmas will provide the relief
they need to survive. We appreciate your donations
during our masses on 10-11th December 2022.
Donations can be placed also in the donation box
inside the church or use the alternative options
noted below.
